

BIODIVERSITY EDUCATION CENTER DOCENT TRAINING

Would you like to volunteer with visiting students who come to the Biodiversity Education Center? Do you have free time during school hours? This January and February, the Biodiversity Education Center will be holding its first training for docents. There is no charge, but participants are asked to complete their volunteer registration with the City of Coppell prior to attending training. Topics covered will include: the history of Coppell Nature Park and the Biodiversity Education Center, hikes through Coppell Nature Park, BEC audio visual equipment use, educational presentation curriculums and artifacts, as well as games for visiting students to play. To learn more about the Biodiversity Education Center, visit www.coppelltx.gov/BEC.

JANUARY 31ST AND FEBRUARY 7TH
2PM - 5PM

Attendance on both dates is required to complete the training.

Pre-registration is required. Please contact the Biodiversity Education Center at 972-304-3581 or cnp@coppelltx.gov to register.
